Tom Oakley's New Boat Overturns

Fireman Tom Oakley had his new boat out in the bay for the second time the other day when it hit a submerged barrel, turned over and sank.

Tom and his companions, Fireman Kingsley Berndt and Jerry Silva of El Cerrito, were dunked in the bay and Tom was badly bruised. In addition, he lost his wrist watch, tools, fishing equipment, the battery from the boat and some clothing.

Next day he went back when the tide was out and recovered the lost items, including his watch.

He is deeply grateful to Vince Nicori of Albany Dump, who borrowed a boat being used by pile drivers and used it to pull Tom's boat out of the water and back to shore. It is now high and dry in his driveway and Tom is nursing his injuries.

City Council Upholds Planning and Zoning Appeal on Evelyn Triplex

The calm voice of Mayor Lewis Howell explaining the legality of a use permit in an R-2 zone had little effect on the explosive reaction of Evelyn Ave. residents to the consent of Council for the building of a triplex at 1040 Evelyn Ave. at the Monday night Council session.

Upholding the Planning and Zoning Commission appeal, following a public hearing, Council voted 4-1, Councilman Richard Clark dissenting, permission to M. L. Myers to build.

The controversy over multiple building on "The Street of Flags" first erupted two years ago and culminated in denial for a four-plex at the same location. Court litigation by the property owner followed and Council decision was upheld.

Compromise by Myers to the present plan, which utilizes less space than a duplex, still met with vocal and written petitions carrying the same arguments used two years ago. Protests from neighborhood residential owners ranged from "It will louse up our residential area" to "If you allow one apartment house all is lost and more move in and the neighborhood becomes transient." Arguments cited parking problems, overloading sewers, loss of privacy, safety for children, and devaluation of property.

Realtor John Neufeld accused the residents of being "obstinate." He said the owner could build a duplex with four bedrooms in each unit and rent to large families. A rebuttal was offered by a property owner who stated: "We don't mind children. We've got children."

Mayor Howell, in explaining his stand on the vote, stated that he did not regard Albany apartment dwellers as "second rate residents." He said his decision was based on doing the best for the city as a whole.

Councilman Joel Parker said he felt the owner had honestly compromised and come back with a good plan. Councilman George Hein agreed.

Councilman Richard Clark said, "As usual I am the dissenting voice." He said he felt granting the appeal was a mistake while the city is in the process of developing a master plan. "Our job will be to change ordinances," he said. "We must be concerned with human beings and how they live together."

Councilman Joseph Egenberger stated that the use permit is allowable. Once before (two years ago), he stated, permit was denied. "Now the property owner wants to put an attractive building on the land." He felt that consideration should be given the owner.

Residents continued to battle during Good of the City.

Other business concluded by Council was the adoption of Resolution 65-96, appointing Elda Foott as full-time clerk-typist; adoption of Resolution 65-97 declaring that on or before Jan. 2 sale and occupancy of present city building properties will take place; and adoption of Resolution 65-011 amending the City Code to regulate parking in marked or designated spaces.

A recommendation by Ralph M. Jensen, Chief of Police, for an ordinance to cover police officers when called upon to perform police duties anywhere in the state in case of injury during such duty, was accepted by Council and City Attorney Lawrence D. Saler was instructed to draw up the ordinance of amendment.

Following a communication from Carl J. MacWilliams, chairman of Planning and Zoning Commission, a public hearing was set up for the evening of October 18 re: application from Dennis R. Williams to rezone Lots 5, 6 and south five feet of Lot 7, block 1, Map 7 of Regents Park from CE3 to CE4.

Brief Agenda Wrapped Up By Council

A brief agenda was wrapped up in 30 minutes at the Albany City Council meeting on Sept. 7.

James B. Turner, Administrative Officer, recommended that City Attorney Larry D. Saler prepare a resolution declaring that upon completion and occupancy of the new city buildings at Marin and San Pablo Avenues, the present buildings be declared surplus and be sold.

The estimate on the structures and their land parcels made in January, 1964, set the minimum at $104,875. The two-story City Hall stands on a 7,500 square foot parcel and the police and fire station properties total nine lots of 19,750 square feet.

The recommendation was accepted by the City Council.

Other business concluded at the meeting was:

Progress payment in the amount of $63,945 to be paid to S. J. Amoroso Construction Co. for work on cit ybuildings authorized.

Amendment of Chapter 7 of the Albany City Code, 1958, regulating sandblasting adopted.

Authorization to proclaim September 17 through 23 as "Constitution Week" in the City of Albany.

Amendment of City Code, Section 20.56 regulating parking in marked or designated spaces, penalizing motorists who park their vehicles over two marked parking stalls adopted.

Note of Thanks

We wish to express our appreciation for the thoughtfulness and sympathy of our many friends in Albany following the loss of our dear wife and mother, Ruby Jacobson.

Fargo's first in El Cerrito is 199th in Northern Cali-

El Cerrito Plaza office on land once owned by a Mexican grandee named Victor Castro, whose early 19th Century hacienda was still intact at this location until about 11 years ago when fire destroyed it. An exhibit, based on this landmark in California history, will be on display in the lobby of the new brancr.

Manager Fitch, assistant manager Jerry Fox, and the Bank staff will act as official hosts and hostesses, showing visitors through the handsome new two-story building.

In addition to a complete line of banking services, the office has a drive-up teller unit, a walk-up window, night depository, and 11 teller windows. Modern and open, the building has glass walls on three sides beneath a roof of copper panels. A 10-foot overhang is supported by concrete columns for an arcade effect.

DRIVING FATIGUE

Many an accident has accurred when a driver's eyes have felt strained and tired, reports the National Automobile Club. Fatigue of any kind can be fatal on the highway.

at First Presbyterian church, across the street. Her students range in age from 18 to 80.

BARGAIN—Two boys came in the Times office to place a classified ad. They were told the rate is 20 words for $1.20. "No matter how big the words are?" one asked.

THE DATE for the opening of Karen Chelemedos' beauty shop has been set ahead one week, to Sept. 22.

GOLDEN GATE A-GO-GO — That's the name of the proposed night club-restaurant in the Club House at Golden Gate Fields. The matter was to have been presented to the Planning and Zoning commission last night. The new business will feature top entertainment, dancing, food and drinks. Maybe THIS will finally fill Albany's age-old need for a large place for meetings and banquets!

THE POLICE BULLETIN reports that the manager of Foster's Freeze requested a police officer to pick up a partial dental plate which had been left on the counter about three days previously. (?).

IN THE MIDST of the Friday afternoon earthquake, we learned that the Fire Department routinely drives its trucks out on the apron, ready for action, when a quake occurs. The old building "rocks like a cradle" and there is danger of doors jamming and trapping the trucks inside. It's a good thing the new city buildings will be ready soon.

Remember last winter?

THIS YEAR, MAKE SURE YOUR HOUSE IS READY.

1 Have your furnace checked now. Don't let the first cold snap catch your furnace not ready for the winter. Call your furnace man now. He'll make sure your furnace is in safe working order with your gas pilots operating. Then, as soon as you need heat, you'll have it. HINT: If you take your furnace filter out and vacuum it, you won't have to put in a new one so often. Clean the dust from your wall and floor heaters, too.

2 Insulate. When floors and ceilings are insulated, you can heat rooms quickly and cut heating costs up to 30%. Good insulation increases the value of your home—and it often will pay for itself in just a few seasons.

3 Weatherstrip. Weatherstripping around outside doors and windows plugs heat leaks and keeps out drafts. A door jamb may require a metal strip to take the constant friction of opening and closing, while loose windows may need thick felt stripping.

4 Close dampers and drapes in cold weather. Fireplaces and big picture windows take away big chunks of heat and cost you money. Close the damper when the fireplace isn't in use, and draw the drapes or curtains.

5 Your winter PG&E bill. Cold weather increases your use of gas or electricity for heat. Your winter PG&E bill will also cover increased use of lights and TV, more cooking and new appliances you've added. However, PG&E energy remains your biggest household bargain — the same amount of PG&E gas and electricity costs less today than it did 30 years ago.

Teacher's Turn to be Taught (Or, How to Go to Pot!)

By Freeman Sargent

Ah, dear children, what did teacher do during the long summer vacation? Well, everyone knows a teacher's life is a soft one. Two months or more of free time during the summer. Dear children, to put it idiomatically, "Don't let them kid you." Teachers must return to school for those professional growth units; they must get part-time jobs to keep up a reasonable standard of living. Not many folks seem to know that teachers are not paid for those two months of so-called "freedom." If teachers do return to school for graduate study, the money it takes comes out of pocket—the teacher's, not the tax-payer's. Well, that is neither here nor there. What did teacher do? Listen my children, and you shall hear.

Some 75 miles north of San Francisco in the Russian River area, there is located a jewel of a farm—Pond Farm—to be exact. It is nestled among tall brown hills and green redwoods. It really has nothing to do with farming or swimming in ponds, though there is a pond nearby. It is a ceramic workshop and the home of one of the most celebrated potters in the country. For those in-the-know, it is a "pot shop." It is conducted by a woman known for her honesty, integrity, and frankness in all things concerning craftsmanship: Marguerite Wildenhain.

Day after day, we, a select number of 21 males and females, of varying ages, backgrounds and degrees of experience, spend 98 per cent of the time in perspiration and two per cent of the time in inspiration, trying to learn the technique of pottery—making from this charming "old world" character, striving to absorb her philosophy and joy of craftsmanship.

In the latter part of the warm afternoons, we are free to take a swim in the Russian River, or bask in the sunshine. But on many mornings in this area north of San Francisco Bay, during July and August, the soft white stuff called fog covers the brown dry hills and shivers one's shoulders while one plunges cold hands into colder water and chilly lumps of clay, trying to arouse the inorganic mass into something vital and personal. With the wisdom of the true expert, the instructress comes to each of us and suggests, informs, and directs our efforts to learn the basic skills and techniques of making good pots. Sitting there kicking one's wheel, the words of the well-known hymn run through thought in time to the pulsating rhythm of the wheel: "Eternal Mind the Potter is, And thought th'eternal clay."

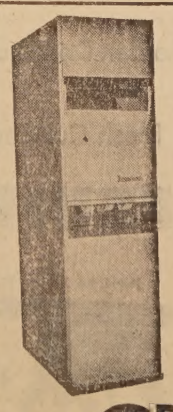

After about two weeks, six hours a day, of concentrated effort, our results seem to "separate the men from the boys"—those who are beginners, or near-beginners, sigh over the difficulties to be overcome and the intricasies to be mastered. But they look with happy anticipation at the work of former students who have returned for the more advanced prodding, which in turn elicits a "Well, that's pretty good" from our master. Each day brings forth new, stimulating ideas from her many years of experience with the craft in Europe and this country.

Her complete sincerity of purpose and her high ideals have made this summer a thrilling one as well as a happy experience for your teacher, dear children. What kind of pupils was I among? Well, there was an electronic engineer who just likes to "pot." Others were teachers, some were college students who were smart enough to realize this summer would give them something no college could, and a few were 18-year-olds who, among other things, were learning the real meaning of discipline.

Now, children, you know what your teacher did on his vacation. Vacation? Bah!—nine weeks of hard work, sweat, and tears, and of course—happy learning. On the whole, I guess I HAD a vacation after all!

And not to be overlooked was Elmer Stryker, war ration board chairman for the City of Albany.

Also present to witness the charter presentation were Mayor Bert Hill and Mrs. Hill of Union Oil service station at Solano and Stannage Aves., now occupied by Standard Oil.

From the Rotary came President Walter Kees, manager of the Bank of America in Albany, with Mrs. Kees.

There were many other community leaders present to offer best wishes. These were only a few. Time also has a habit of fogging many an alert memory and records are not complete.

Interesting enough was the first project, a $500 gift to the Red Cross, presented to Rev. Laurence Cross of the North Berkeley Community Church. This after only a few months of operation. Then came bond drives but that is another story—and remember there was a war in 1943.

President John Maddox, chairman of this anniversary party, reports the meeting is open to all and tickets may be secured from any Albany Lion.

THANKS FOR WRITING

ALBANY TIMES:

This note is to let you know how much I appreciated your sponsoring me on the Redlegs Senior Little League team.

I had hoped to come in person and thank you, but have been gone most of the summer.

It has been a lot of fun playing baseball this summer and I'll be there again under Managers Holm and Smith next summer. Thank you again.

VAUGHN NORDBY

ALBANY TIMES:

Though this note is long overdue, please accept our apologies and a most sincere "thank you" from Albany Lions for your years of loyal and faithful service to the objectives of Lionism.

The cooperation and assistance of the Albany Times, certainly has demonstrated a friendship far above any call of duty or responsibility.

For the ever extended helping hand of your Editor and staff we wish to give a special "thank you." Their suggestions and thoughts have, on every occasion proved most beneficial to our club and members.

As you know Lions are charged with service to their fellowman, their community, their country and the Free World. Thus every opportunity to publicize our projects and activities serves to strengthen our objectives and build a stronger America.

On a local level, no organization could ask for more. Editor Dorothy Larimer has been most kind and her ability to find space for our late news items and announcements always astounds this writer.

Presently our club enjoys a very favorable position both at District level and community wise. For this we are proud. However, it is the opinion of our members a considerable portion of the credit for such standing belongs to our own local press, The Albany Times.

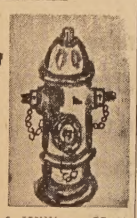

To some this may sound a bit far fetched but to Albany Lions, we feel most of our effort would go for naught if the community, in which we serve, was unaware of these endeavors to make Albany a better place to live.

This year we promise to be the same nuisance as in previous times but with these exceptions; we will try to make our releases more interesting and more readable.

By so doing, perhaps those in charge will not remove the "Welcome Mat" at the Albany Times.

Sincerely,
CARL J. MacWILLIAMS
Public Relations Chairman

Fire Plug

Assistant Chief William Hutt of the Albany Fire Department says that today, instead of relying on tradition, the fire service is engaged in continuous initiative and achievement to preserve the enviable reputation built by its past accomplishments.

He further states that the modern deparment present a new image in the effort to keep pace with this changing world. The diversity of duties has proven that the Fire Department has taken the offensive and professionalized its services, therefore the demand for better qualified applicants must be made.

Chief Hutt points out that an entrance examination for firemen will be given in the City of Albany and that aspirants must file before Sept. 24 at 5 p.m. An agility test will be given Oct. 2 and will be followed by a written test Oct. 16.

Those wishing to file may do so at the Civil Service Board office, 1041 Solano Ave. The Chief also invites anyone interested to come to the fire station, 801 San Pablo Ave., where the officer in charge will gladly explain pertinent information regarding working conditions and will answer any questions relating to the department.

Damonte-Provost Rites

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Provost

Beautiful rites at St. Ambrose Catholic church on Aug. 29 united in marriage Jo Ann Lena Demonte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil M. Damonte of 1350 Washington St., and Thomas E. Provost, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Provost of 507 Brentwood Ave., Santa Rosa.

Five hundred friends and relatives attended the wedding and dinner-dance which followed at the Columbo club in Oakland.

Given in marriage by her father, Jo Ann was lovely in a traditional gown of white pure silk gros de londre with bateau neckline and short sleeves. The fitted empire bodice cascaded into a A-shaped skirt. Her detachable coat effect swept into a full chapel-length train above which was a very full silk illusion veil, which fell from a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a cascade of stephanotis and phalaenopsis and wore her mother's gold locket.

Carol Moore, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Diane Corniola, sister-in-law of the bride; Jean Magnaghi, Ardyane O'Donnell and Barbara Dorenzo, cousins of the bride, and Ann Machado and Connie Heinrich.

Julie LaGuardia, cousin of the bride, was flower girl.

The maid of honor wore burnt orange; bridesmaids, moss green, and flowergirl, white. All frocks were long crepe sheaths with empire bodices dipping to v-backs with self buttons accentuating the high waistlines. Headpieces and veils matched the color of the gowns. The maid of honor and flowergirl carried cascades of bronze spider mums caught with moss green ribbon. Bridesmaids carried similar arrangements tied with talisman ribbon.

Best man was Frank Egger. Ushers were Jerry Corniola, brother of the bride; Mario Fissore, cousin of the bride; Lee Culemann, cousin of the bridegroom, and Glenn Bartholomew, Dave Wheeler, and Bud Nahemens.

Ring bearer was Donald Shanks, cousin of the bride.

Men in the wedding party wore cutaway grey waistcoats with gray striped trousers.

For the wedding and reception, the mother of the bride wore a three-piece champagne beige ribbon knit suit accentuated with mink cuffs. Her accessories were of autumn haze hue and her corsage of beige cymbidium orchids. The mother of the bridegroom was attired in a three-piece suit of golden autumn cornflower with beaded bodice, beige and white accessories. Her corsage was of green lady slippers.

Rice girls at the reception were Linda Moore, Kathy Moore, Patty LaGuardia, Patty O'Donnell, Tonette Dorenzo and Stephanie Tomanavich.

Music was by the Gondoliers and included the bride's cousin Jerry Magnaghi. Tom Tallerico of Albany was soloist. A champagne reception, sit-down dinner and dancing were high lights of the reception. A limousine and chaffeur were provided by Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Olson of Albany.

For a wedding trip to the Stardust hotel in Las Vegas, gift of the bride's and bridegroom's parnets, the new Mrs. Provost changed to a black and white checked cape suit. They are now at home in Oakland.

The bride, a 1962 graduate of Albany High school, received her AA degree from Santa Rosa Junior college in 1965. Her husband, a 1957 graduate of Santa Rosa Junior college, spent four years in the U.S. Navy and is an analyst for Shell Oil company in San Francisco.
